A Whole School Policy for Literacy

“If standards of achievement are to be improved, all teachers will have to be helped to acquire a deeper understanding of language in education. This includes teachers of other subjects than English, since it is one of our contentions that every school should have an organised policy for language across the curriculum, establishing every teacher’s involvement in language and reading development throughout the years of schooling.” The Bullock report – A Language for Life (HMSO 1975)

This advice still stands. The materials in the School’s Literacy Procedures and this ‘Whole School Literacy Policy’ have been produced in order to assist all department areas in the development of improved whole school literacy levels.

The materials include:

- Whole School Literacy Policy
- Varying resources that can be used across or adapted for all departments
- Level descriptors for all aspects of literacy
- Suggestions for procedures in implementing literacy across the curriculum
- Support developing writing frameworks

In the context of this document, the term “literacy” is used to embrace all aspects of language development – reading, writing and speaking and listening.

Definition

The term literacy covers speaking, listening, reading and writing.

Students need to use these skills across the school in order to access the curriculum; therefore all staff share responsibility for literacy, whatever their subject, and must address together and as a priority the issues that literacy raises.

Our regard for its importance extends from specific subject and support areas to cover the whole school environment, and also the vital communication between staff and students, and to our links with home, the local community and the world beyond.

Relationships are at the heart of our ethos and these are built on effective communication.

Purpose

Literacy is a fundamental skill in learning, in one's career and in life in general problems with literacy can be at the root of student disaffection with learning and a barrier to success. Literacy is at the very centre of our teaching.

All staff must demonstrate an understanding of and take responsibility for promoting high standards of literacy. Students should be taught in all subjects to express themselves correctly and appropriately using 'Standard English', and to read accurately and with understanding.

The School will work to:

- Raise standards of literacy throughout the school
- Enable students to access all subjects
- Give students the skills needed to cope in the wider world
- Involve all staff, students and the community in promoting literacy skills

Our objectives are:

- To closely monitor student literacy progress
- To provide enhancement programmes as needed
- To establish strategies towards literacy that are consistent across the school, including training for staff and the use of appropriate resources
- To encourage home-school and school-community literacy links, including the use of appropriate and accessible (jargon-free) language in our communications with parents and others
- To develop the use of the Library and the wider school as a literacy resource
- To foster a love of literacy through activities within and outside school

Arrangements for monitoring and evaluation

The effectiveness of the Literacy Policy will be monitored, evaluated and reviewed both day to day and more strategically:

1. On-going monitoring:
  - Lesson observations
  - Sampling of students' work
  - Discussions between members of staff
  - Feedback from parents
  - Student progress in lessons
  - Student progress in Wave 2 and 3 intervention
2. Strategic monitoring and evaluation:
  - Schemes of Work are reviewed at the end of the period of study, or annually as appropriate
  - Analysis of student summative assessment data, termly
  - Review of The School and Departmental Development Plans, annually
  - Review of Wave 2 and 3 interventions
  - Schemes of Work revised to include the 'fix'. Identification of literacy needs to be addressed as part of the 'fix'

The Governing Body will review the literacy policy every two years and assess its implementation and effectiveness.
